

What type of site will work best for you?

The best type of site for your business will depend on your budget as well as how and what you want to communicate to your website visitors. Being aware of the different options and which best suits your business has the potential to both make you more accessible and save you money.

Which site would be best for me?

In many cases, your site will be a blend of more than one basic 'type'.

